Wii wii pc wii wii wii get yo ruckin download snitch by dimitri Here is the first game of the Pokemon Trilogy series of Game Boy games. It is a mix between a RPG and a Tower Defense. This is my first attempt at designing a Tower Defense game on here. It has a mixture of FireRed and LeafGreen controls but it will work on any version of the Game Boy that you own. To make this game a little bit easier to play, you will be selecting your own team of Pokemon. Each level will have its own team. The player has the option of deleting a Pokemon from the previous team when he/she wants to create a new team. The game will start by asking you what Pokemon you want to battle with. When you start the game, you will be able to select a level of difficulty. I added three difficulty options for you. This game is meant to be played with an analog stick. By using the analog stick, you will be able to move the map around the battle field. The analog stick is going to be your main source of input. The rest of the controls are the same as in a FireRed or LeafGreen game. I also added options to have the map be either on the vertical or horizontal plane. To counter the difficulty of selecting your own team, I added two more settings. In one setting, you can choose the number of Pokemon you want in your team. In the other setting, you have the option of either eliminating one Pokemon from your team or putting a Pokemon from the opponent's team into your team. After you choose your difficulty level and the team you want to use, you will be allowed to select which Pokemon you want to battle with. You will be able to select the Pokemon from a menu. In battle, you will be able to change the attributes of each Pokemon. Attribute changes for Pokemon are as follows: 1) Pokemon's name f3e1b3768c
